Outlook can find emails with one or more attachments by specifying the "Has Attachments" option. But how can I search for a specific type of attached file? e.g. search for emails having .docx, .pdf, .xlsx or .zip files etc. Is it also possible to only search for text within an attachment and not within the message body?

A Googlehack is a contest for finding a Google search query consisting of exactly two words without quotation marks that returns exactly one hit. A Googlehack must consist of two actual words found in a dictionary. An example of this would be "hypergargalesthesia ridiculousness" (at the time of Dec. 6, 2018).

In general usage, a thesaurus is a reference work that lists words grouped together according to similarity of meaning (containing synonyms and sometimes antonyms), in contrast to a dictionary, which provides definitions for words, and generally lists them in alphabetical order. The main purpose of such reference works for users "to find the word, or words, by which [an] idea may be most fitly ...
