The Environmental Fluid Dynamics Code (EFDC) is a multifunctional surface water modeling system, which includes hydrodynamic, sediment-contaminant, and eutrophication components. EFDC has been applied to over 100 water bodies including rivers, lakes, reservoirs, wetlands, estuaries, and coastal ...

1. Introduction. Transport is the second largest source of energy-related emissions, accounting for 23% in the total energy-related global emissions in 2010 (Sims et al., 2014). Global transport CO₂ (carbon dioxide) emissions are projected to double along with the 170%–300% increase in global transport demand by 2050 compared to the 2005 level (). ...

Transportation Research Part D: Transport and Environment publishes original research and review articles on the environmental impacts of transportation, policy responses to those impacts, and their implications for the design, planning, and management of transportation systems. It covers all aspects of the interaction between transportation and the environment, from localized to global impacts.

Sediment transport is the movement of solid particles (), typically due to a combination of gravity acting on the sediment, and/or the movement of the fluid in which the sediment is entrained. Sediment transport occurs in natural systems where the particles are clastic rocks (sand, gravel, boulders, etc.), mud, or clay; the fluid is air, water, or ice; and the force of gravity acts to move the ...

International Journal of Environmental Protection and Policy (IJEPP) provides a forum for sharing timely and up-to-date publication of scientific research and review articles. The journal publishes original full-length research papers in all areas related to environmental protection and policy. It aims to offer the opportunity for multi-disciplinary discourse on science, technology and ...
